

SUMMER INTERNSHIP

Financial Access Consulting Services (FACS) is looking for an intern to join our team in Amsterdam.

About the company

Financial Access Consulting Services ("FACS") is an ex-ING Bank financial advisory entity taken private in 2007. We have offices in Amsterdam, Jakarta, Nairobi and Kampala. Our main objective is to de-risk smallholder agriculture and to unlock sustainable finance at scale for smallholder farmers in agri commodity value chains. We use in-depth data analysis, farmer credit & environmental scoring, financial technology and our long-term operational banking experience to develop easy-to-use smallholder finance tools and investable smallholder investment portfolios for banks, MFIs, credit cooperatives, impact investors and other agri-lenders. In our work we engage with public donors, NGOs, the financial sector, private companies and a number of research organizations and technical partners.

Currently, FACS is developing a credit services platform under the name of LendXS. This platform allows Financial Service Providers ("FSPs") to broaden their outreach to smallholder farmers while (significantly) reducing operational costs and risks. We are currently running several pilot projects in Kenya and Myanmar with the LendXS tools.

To support our work, FACS is looking for a summer Intern who can both assist in our advisory and technology business, see more information below.
